

It's that simple.

Names and pronouns are real and required for referring to someone.

It's basic respect.